

MANAGING FOR POLLINATORS & NATIVE SPECIES

Monday, June 24, 8:30 AM-4:00 PM

Franklin County Cooperative Extension Office

103 South Bickett Boulevard

Join other women landowners and land management professionals to grow your network and learn about:

- Importance of pollinators & native species
- Creating and enhancing pollinator habitat
- Invasive plant removal
- Financial and technical assistance programs
- And much more!

Registration is required by Monday, June 17. Cost for the workshop is $10, which includes lunch and materials. Limited scholarships are available for those in need of financial assistance to attend. All genders welcome.

Register: go.ncsu.edu/wow_pollinator_louisburg

This work is supported by Renewable Resources Extension Act funding from the USDA National Institute of Food and Agriculture

NC STATE

EXTENSION